Ferries between Tallinn and Stockholm depart every evening, with the trip taking approximately 15 hours. (For more information, please, see Tallink www.tallinksilja.com)

by air

There are direct flights to Tallinn from Berlin, Copenhagen, Gothenburg, Hamburg, Helsinki, Kiev, Minsk, Moscow, Oslo, Riga, Stockholm, Vilnius and Warsaw. Tallinn Airport is served directly by several airlines: Estonian Air, Finnair, Air Baltic and KLM to mention a few. The comprehensive list of the airlines operating to and from Tallinn can be found here.

The airport is located 4 kilometres from the city centre. Bus no. 2 leaves the airport for the city centre and port every 20 minutes, and operates from 7 AM until midnight. The price 20 EEK; tickets can be bought from the driver. The airport bus stop is located in front of the departure hall. The downtown bus stop is located on Laikmaa Street, between the Tallink Hotel and the large Viru Centre, attached to the Sokos Hotel Viru. A taxi stand is located outside the airport terminal. A fare from the airport to the city centre is about 100 EEK.

by bus

International bus lines (Eurolines, Ecolines, Hansabuss) connect Tallinn to Germany (Berlin, Bonn, Cologne, Hamburg, Munich, Stuttgart), Russia (Kaliningrad, St. Petersburg), Latvia (Riga), Lithuania (Kaunas, Vilnius), Poland (Krakow, Warszaw), and Belarus (Vitebsk). Both international and domestic bus lines arrive at and leave from Tallinn's Central Bus Station. From the bus station it is easy to get to the city either by tram nr. 2 or 4 or bus nr. 17A, 23 or 23A.

by train

The train from Tallinn to Moscow and Saint Petersburg goes every day. The railway station is situated near the Old Town and harbour. To get from the railway station to the city take a tram No 1 or 2 or walk just 10 minutes to the Old Town.

About Tallinn

Tallinn is the capital city of Estonia and the largest city in the country. Currently there are over 400.000 inhabitants. Tallinn is one of the best retained medieval European towns, with its web of winding cobblestone streets and properties, from the 11th to 15th centuries, preserved nearly in its entirety. All the most important state and church buildings from the Middle Ages have been preserved in their basic original form, as well as many citizens' and merchants' residences, along with barns and warehouses from the medieval period.

The golden era in Tallinn's history lies in the period between the early 15th and mid 16th centuries. Tallinn had attained fame and a powerful role in the Baltic Sea area through its membership in the Hanseatic League.
